Historic San Angelo

History

San Angelo's rich history weaves together centuries of Native American, Texan, and Pioneer culture. Today, thanks to a tradition of preservation, San Angelo's history is very much alive and proudly on display.

Old Town

Located at El Paseo de Santa Angela, this designated historic district showcases vintage architecture from the 1880s to the early 1900s. Tour the Camunez Grocery Store, Victorian residences, and homes and businesses in buildings designed by Oscar Ruffini, San Angelo's pioneer architect.

Spectator Sports

From live college sports to professional rodeo and everything in between, San Angelo offers sports fans more options than a remote control ever could.

San Angelo Bandits

The San Angelo Bandits are San Angelo's own Professional Indoor Football Team. The Bandits play at the Foster Communications Coliseum, 50 East 43rd Street. The San Angelo Bandits are the Lone Star Football League Champions for 2014.

Historic Downtown

Discover unique shops, historical buildings and museums.

Fort Concho National Historic Landmark

This national historic landmark was established as an Army outpost in 1867 and served to protect burgeoning West Texas settlements. Once home to the famed Buffalo Soldiers, Fort Concho is considered the nations' best-preserved Indian Wars fort and is part of the Texas Forts Trail program. The museum and grounds are open daily and feature living history demonstrations and programs throughout the year.

Angelo State University Sports

With football, baseball, softball, basketball, volleyball, track & field and soccer teams at ASU, college sports fans will always find something to cheer about.

San Angelo Stock Show & PRCA Rodeo

This nationally recognized event features today's top rodeo cowboys, a top ten in national purse in the U.S., livestock show and premium sale, rodeo parade, commercial exhibitors, arts & crafts competitions, displays and a carnival.

Attractions

Cultural Attractions

San Angelo is alive with culture. Enjoy our year-round presentations of world-class music, theater, fine arts, local artisans, plus down home favorites like country & blues, dancing and folk art.

Historic Downtown San Angelo

Head on by Historic downtown San Angelo for an eclectic mix of shopping and dining, including jewelers, a general store, an antique mall, wine, brew houses and more.

Mt. Carmel Hermitage

Monastery community and gift shop in Christoval.

Love Municipal Pool

Open Memorial Day through Labor Day. Water slides, large pool & Children's splash area.

Outdoor Activities

With wide open wilderness for hunting including deer, turkey, antelope, javelina, quail, dove, and exotic game plus fishing, horseback riding, biking or just plain relaxing, San Angelo is an outdoorsman's dream come true.

San Angelo Nature Center

This regional museum and learning center, located at gorgeous Lake Nasworthy, features lush nature displays, hiking trails and a small collection of live animals.

San Angelo Museum of Fine Arts

Adjacent to the River Stage lies the 30,000 square foot San Angelo Museum of Fine Arts – home to a renowned permanent collection and the site of diverse traveling exhibitions.

San Angelo Symphony

Since 1949, the San Angelo Symphony has presented world-class performances throughout the year. The annual July 3rd Pops Concert is the fourth largest Independence celebration in Texas.

San Angelo Civic Theatre

A tradition since 1885, the Angelo Civic Theatre has delighted generations of residents and visitors with a wide variety of stage productions.

San Angelo Civic Ballet

Offering the highest level of dance education and fostering creativity, self-esteem and discipline through dance.

San Angelo State Park

With 7,500 acres of wide-open wilderness, there's plenty of room for virtually any activity under the sun or even on the water. Regular herd viewing of Bison and Longhorns delight wildlife enthusiasts year-round. Prehistoric dinosaur tracks bring out the paleontologist in everyone.

Boating & Fishing

Any boater, skier or fisherman can find what they're looking for at either Lake Nasworthy or Twin Buttes Reservoir. Canoeists may opt for the placid, winding waters of the three local rivers. Throughout the year, drag boat racing, skiing exhibitions, wakeboarding tournaments and fishing tournaments provide excitement for participants and spectators.

Sunken Gardens/Sculpture Gardens

Beautiful flowers and annually alternating sculptures across from the Visitor Center.

Sports

Golf

Golfers of all levels can enjoy a mix of scenic private and public golf courses as diverse as San Angelo's landscape.

Hunting

San Angelo is an outdoor enthusiast's paradise. Home to some of the state's best hunting opportunities for white-tailed deer, pronghorn antelope, Rio Grande turkey, quail, dove, and seasonal waterfowl. Local ranches even offer exotic game hunts. Many ranches around San Angelo offer guided hunts and over night stays for hunting. Check out our website at www.VisitSanAngelo.org for a list of available hunting leases and ranches.

Concho Pearls

Unique to the waters of West Texas, natural Concho pearls have been coveted for centuries because of their alluring pink and purple hues. It is even rumored that the Spanish crown jewels contain these exquisite gems. The pearls, which make treasured gifts and keepsakes, can be found in jewelry shops around San Angelo.

Miss Hattie's Bordello Museum

The ladies of Miss Hattie's entertained San Angelo's gentlemen for fifty years, before the bordello was closed in 1946 by the Texas Rangers. You can tour Miss Hattie's for a glimpse of one of the more colorful outposts of the Wild West.

Birding

With a varied habitat for birding including farm and ranch lands, lakes, streams and hills, San Angelo is home to over 300 species confirmed since 1980. The Hummer House, located in the nearby town of Christoval, is famous for the hummingbirds that migrate there each spring.

Cycling

San Angelo's varied terrain makes it an ideal location for cyclists of all levels. Choose between open roads and smooth wilderness paths for leisurely rides or rugged hills and challenging mountain bike trails for serious cycling. San Angelo also hosts regional competitions throughout the year.

The Cactus Hotel

Built in 1929 by Conrad Hilton, this grand hotel was a most ambitious and expensive venture. Newly renovated and transformed into San Angelo's cultural center, the Cactus Hotel still features the lavish decorations and crystal ballroom of its past. It is also host to the city's annual Cactus Jazz and Blues Festival.

Historic Santa Fe Depot & Railway Museum

The Railway Museum is located in the beautifully restored 1910 Orient-Santa Fe Depot. Tour the permanent railcar collection or view the railroad artifacts and memorabilia on display for a glimpse into San Angelo's past.
